SOCIAL HYGIENE TO AID SEX INSTRUCTION

The Oregon Social Hygiene Socito give Medford and southern Oregen the henefit of their organization which is doing a great service to the state and country in its campaign for entightenment on sex facts. This society is composed of teachers, clergymes, workingsien, physicians, judges, lawyers, editors, merchants, bankers and others interested in the young men and women and children

During the later part of January this society through its field secretary and with the co-operation of a local committee will organize the work here. Public meetings will be distributed. This society aims to prevent some of the dread consequences of venereal infection by teaching the nature of sex life decently, as part of the common, knowledge which all should have for self-protection. Prudery prevents! gh to prepare them! for that duty. Every boy needs definite, decent, understandable instruction in sex matters.

This society is farmishing this in-Literature and further information of next month. can be had by salling at room 7, Sparta building. Oregon Social Hywiene Somety.

LULL IN FIGHTING IN ATTACK ON OJINAGA

PRESIDIO, Tex., Jan. 6. Though Ojmaga, it seemed unlikely to be a long one.

General Herrera, with 3000 rebels was marching from Chibnahua City to aid in the attack on the town. Simultaneously, General Argumedo, with 4000 federals, was coming from Torreon to help the garrison.

The two bodies were racing for La Mula pass, the key to Ojinaga, and whichever one reached it first, it was agreed on both sides, would pos sess an enormous strategic advantage. The chances seemed to favor Argumedo, His force was mostly cavairy. Herrera, hampered by wagon train and artillery, was said to be making slow time.

ASHLAND FRUIT EXCHANGE HALDS ANNUAL MEETING

The Ashland Fruit and Produce Assaciation held its annual meeting Saturday and reported a profitable business the past year. C. H. Gillette retired as president, after six years' service, declining re-election. J. W. Milner were elected directors. The board of directors elected R. P. Cornelius president, J. B. Hunter, secretary; V. O. N. Smith, treasurer. and A. C. Briggs, manager, the latter three being re-elected.

WESTERLUND SAYS LOS ANGELES SLOW

Los Angeles is certainly on the cty of Portland, Oregon, is anxious bum, worse than Medford ever was in 1912. All one has to do is to talk to some of the business men here. They complain that the tourists and "suckers" are not coming as they used to. I console them by saying, "Do as we do in the Rogue river valley-put on your overalls and do like we do go to work." There are more shabby looking people here on prevention of venereal diseases and the streets than I ever saw. Living improving the moral and social con- is cheap. You can get the best meal ditions of the people, especially the in the city for twenty and twentyfive cents. Hotels are empty and honesome. Tell some of the calamity howlers in Medford to get on the train and come to California and compare the situation. They will beld and valuable literature will be California. Friend is not in much Mrs. Edith Hill Booker, on the 16th 6th, 1914, for a license to sell spirit-California. Frisco is not in much inst.

OBITUARY.

Oregon loses another of its pioneers with the death of Mrs. Martha M. Brown at Brownsboro.

Mrs. Brown was born at Buffalo. N. Y., June 3, 1839. The family renoved to Lake Geneva, Wis., where he was married to Henry R. Brown in 1860. Leaving the comfortable; parental home, she and her husband set forth to brave the perils and there was a full today in fighting at hardships of pioneer life, crossing the plains in one of those famous trains of "prairie schooners" which brought so many of our forefathers and mothers across the great American desert to the homestead in the wilderness.

They settled at Brownsboro, a small town which Mr. Brown had previously founded. Here their children were born, three daughters, Mrs. L. C. Charley, Mrs. Mary Terrill, Mrs. Emogene Charley, and one son, George B. Brown, all still living near Brownshoro.

Mrs. Brown was a woman of sincere Christian belief, whose loving heart always pleaded for peace and fairness; a woman to whom those in trouble instinctively turned for sympathy and advice as one whom they trusted and on whom they depended; a woman of strong character such as Oregon needed in a pioneer mother. She leaves a wide circle of relatives and friends to mourn her loss.

Mrs. Brown had been ill for sev eral weeks, and on December 23. W. G. Prescott, R. P. Cornelius and 1913, she answered the call, and met her savior, face to face.
